1. The attached papers involve a suit brought by one [Redacted] against the Internal Revenue Service. [Redacted] retired from the Agency in 1959 on medical disability. In his suit he is challenging IRS' refusal to permit him to exclude sick pay from his income for the years following the date he would have retired if he had not suffered disability. STATINTL

2. The papers require action by you only in that under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure it is necessary that an appropriate official, in this case the Executive Secretary of the CIA Management Committee, certify the authority of the custodian of official records. Accordingly, the certificate attached to a copy of [Redacted] of 3 November 1961 and certified to by [Redacted] as CIA Records Management Officer, requires your signature. When Mr. Fisher signed his affidavit this morning, the notary public also certified your signature to the certificate and dated it today, 16 March. It is recommended, therefore, that you sign the certificate and insert in the blank space in ink today's date. STATINTL
